A Picture is Worth a Thousand Words
South Junior High – 2015 OCDE Technology Showcase
Finalist Project

Our project is called "A Picture is Worth a Thousand Words". It's a storyboarding project that has to tell a story in a single-frame picture (aka: digital poster), instead of multiple frames.

The stories the Applied Tech (Mrs. Chang) & ELM (Ms. Avilez) classes are using for this project are:

Little Red Riding Hood
3 Little Pigs
Rumpelstiltskin
Goldilocks and the 3 Bears
Jack and the Beanstalk
Hansel and Gretel
The Pied Piper
The Goose Girl

The project is broken into the following stages:

Stage 1 Digital Poster: Students read the story and create a rendition in digital format.

Stage 2 Digital Poster: Students change the background setting of the story and re-write how that changes the story.

Stage 3 Digital Poster: Students must redeem the villain in the story and create a brand new digital image that can showcase how the hero is now the villain and vice versa.

The Pitch: The students present their Stage 3 Digital Poster as a team to the entire class in a role-playing "pitch". The class pretends to be Hollywood producers looking for the next big movie idea. Students then use Google Forms to submit their review for each group.

To complete all stages of this project the students use and demonstrate their skills in storyboarding, reading, writing, mind-mapping, collaboration, team-building, and oral presentation skills.

The dress-rehearsal is from 4:30 pm to 6:00pm at the OCDE Office, 200 Kalmus Drive, Costa Mesa, Building A, Board Room on Tuesday, January 13, 2015.
